

SINTERPACK is a Spanish engineering company, specialised in the integration of complex end of line systems, in which a high technological capacity, own developments and an experience of more than 50 years are combined to provide solutions in packed products handling.

SINTERPACK's plant was originally founded in Burgos (Spain) in 1965 by the Dutch multinational STORK, a world leader in the dairy sector, to service the industrialisation process of the dairy sector that was taking place in Spain in those years. Though SINTERPACK has been present for many years in other sectors, keeping a strong presence in the Spanish dairy sector, currently having a market share of around 70% in end-of-line systems.

If you are looking to invest in the 4.0 industry, this company from Burgos has offered returns on equity ratios close to 12% in recent years.

If you are not interested in investing, but you want to establish your industrial company in Spain. Sinterpack can be the company that designs the machinery and automation lines needed for your sector.

Thanks to its good production results and economic profitability, Sinterpack has acquired companies dedicated to its sector in Barcelona, Santiago de Chile and India. These group of companies is called Xolertic.

Overall, this Company can offer you:

- Profitability as financial investor between 10%-13%
- Machinery solutions if you want to start an industrial company in Europe
- Innovative solutions specifically designed for your industrial sector